Aaron LeClair is a member of the firm's trust, estates & personal planning department, where he focuses his practice on counseling clients on all aspects of tax and estate planning. His practice involves providing legal support and research in trusts, probate, wills, tax planning and business formation. He also has experience drafting wills, trusts, powers of attorney, personal property memoranda and other legal documents pertaining to estate planning.

Prior to joining Stradley Ronon, Aaron worked as an estate law intern at a law firm based in Tampa, FL. Aaron received his LL.M. from Temple University Beasley School of Law and his J.D. from Washington and Lee University School of Law. Before law school, Aaron graduated from Walla Walla University, where he received his B.S. in Business Administration and Management.
