Kevin Boyle is a member of Stradley Ronon’s board of directors, management committee and serves as Co-Chairman of the firm. Kevin previously served as the firm’s Financial Partner. He chaired the firm’s business department from 2004 to 2012, overseeing and managing more than 60 attorneys across Stradley Ronon’s offices. During that time, the department grew significantly not only in numbers, but also in practice areas, geographic reach and in the overall sophistication and complexity of the matters it handles.

Kevin represents large and small companies, nonprofit and religious organizations, and individuals in business, real estate and banking matters. His practice concentration includes mergers and acquisitions, real estate, corporate financing, public and private bond financing, and nonprofit and insurance-related matters.

RESULTS

- represented the Archdiocese of Philadelphia in its 60-year long-term lease and management arrangement with StoneMor Partners pertaining to 13 Archdiocesan cemeteries covering approximately 2,375 acres; the overall structure of the matter was, to the best of our knowledge, the first of its kind in the United States and will yield in favor of the Archdiocese more than $89 million over the first 35 years of the arrangement
- represented the owners of Ascension Publishing LLC (dba Ascension Press), a nationally known producer and distributor of Catholic-based books, study programs, audio and other materials, in connection with the sale of substantially all of its assets to the management team at Ascension
- advised nonprofit organizations, religious entities and higher education institutions in several complex joint ventures, including a venture in which properties were being converted into a mixed-use campus, including housing for several private academies
- represented the operator of a shipping and transportation company in the acquisition of a 45-acre parcel along the Delaware River in Delaware County, Pennsylvania, and currently representing the same owner in conjunction with the possible use of the site as the core parcel for a liquid natural gas export facility

IN THE COMMUNITY

Kevin is a founding member of the MANNA Institute and serves on the advisory board of MANNA, a nonprofit organization that provides nourishing, healthy food to those battling life-threatening illnesses. He is a current board member and former president of the board of directors for Heights Philadelphia, a nonprofit organization that prepares first-generation-to-college low-income students to enter and succeed in college. Each year Kevin hosts Heights Philadelphia students for a day at Stradley Ronon, providing them with a look into the daily life of a lawyer and the inner workings of a law firm; and every summer, he supervises Heights Philadelphia students serving as summer interns at the firm.
