With more than 20 years' experience in financial leadership, Jim Jenkins is responsible for all aspects of the firm's financial management, including billing, collections, cash management, financial analysis, budgeting and financial reporting. He is also responsible for maintaining the firm's banking relationships and managing its finance-related technology.

Before joining Stradley Ronon, Jim was the chief financial officer of First Funds, LLC, a specialty finance company, where he oversaw financial and strategic planning, debt/equity management and financial and operational reporting. He has also served as executive vice president and chief financial officer of Popular Financial Holdings, a $10-billion subsidiary of publicly traded Banco Popular. Jim provided financial and strategic leadership to this national mortgage and consumer finance lender/servicer.

Jim's experience also includes serving for nine years as the controller for Fox & Lazo Realtors, a privately owned multistate residential real estate broker and as a senior accountant in the audit department of PricewaterhouseCoopers' Philadelphia office.
