Laura Persun focuses her practice on complex state and federal litigation concerning mortgage lending, consumer finance and auto finance, and collections matters. She handles matters for nationwide loan servicers, trusts, and mortgage banking institutions in consumer fraud suits and actions filed under the Fair Debt Collections Practices Act and Truth in Lending Act. Laura also represents clients in resolving contested lien priorities and chain of title issues. Additionally, she is a certified arbitrator in the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas.

Prior to joining Stradley Ronon, Laura was an associate at a national law firm where she represented healthcare facilities and medical professionals in medical malpractice suits and counseled healthcare clients in regulatory and compliance matters.

Laura graduated with honors from Washington and Lee University with degrees in English and creative writing. She obtained a law degree from the Temple University Beasley School of Law and spent a semester studying international law at the University College Cork in Cork, Ireland.
