Evan Poulgrain concentrates his practice on corporate law, advising public and private and private companies in various corporate transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, divestitures, entity formation and corporate governance issues. Evan also has experience counseling financial services clients on various secured and unsecured commercial lending transactions, including leveraged acquisition finance and project financing.

Prior to law school, Evan was a licensed solicitor in Australia and worked in state government as a legal policy advisor across a range of matters, including economic relations, renewable energy policy, and transport infrastructure.

Evan received his J.D. from Drexel University Thomas R. Kline School of Law, where he served as Executive Editor for the Drexel Law Review. Prior to law school, Evan received his LLB from the Queensland University of Technology. Evan holds a Bachelor of Journalism degree from the University of Queensland.

IN THE COMMUNITY

While in law school, Evan was President of Drexel Kline School of Law's OUTlaw Association, which is dedicated to promoting diversity and inclusion of LGBT individuals within the law school and Philadelphia community.
