

Philadelphia

M A G A Z I N E

I LOVE MY JOB

10 Notable Philadelphians Share the Secrets of Their Success

Tamala Edwards, Bart Blatstein, Sister Mary Scullion and more on the keys to making it in the City of Brotherly Love.

by PHILLY MAG STAFF • 10/27/2018, 8:59 p.m.

Left to right, from top: Bart Blatstein, Sister Mary Scullion, Tamala Edwards, Ralph Muller, Michael Schulson, Maria Quinones-Sanchez, Kenny Gamble, Felicite Moorman, Colleen Hanycz and John Saler. Illustrations by Meryl Rowin

John Saler, chair, government and public affairs, Stradley Ronon

Powerhouse lobbyist, quintessential insider, ringmaster of the Palm

What's the key to being successful in Philadelphia?

Philadelphia is a big small town. Everybody knows somebody who knows somebody. Be true to your word, give something back – to charity and/or volunteerism – and for heaven's sake, be nice, even to your competitors, because if you're not, people will know. Goodwill goes a long way.